

Richard Chmielewski

Protec-Arisawa Americas

Richard Chmielewski is Product Manager for Protec-Arisawa a leading manufacturer of RO Pressure Vessels. As Product Manager he is responsible for the complete vessel product line as well as new product development efforts.

Richard has a long history in the membrane business including working for SPI consulting engineers, membrane manufacturers and as Project Manager for a large international custom water treatment equipment manufacturer. Richard was also involved with introduction of hollow fiber membrane (MF) technology into the USA, having sold the first drinking water system using micro filtration membranes in the state of California.